THE SIOUX WAR.

The Utes become Allies of the Government.

CHEYENNE, July 15.—Negotiations have been making for some time through Capt. Nickerson, of Gen. Crook's staff, with the Utes, who are old enemies of the Sioux, on account of oft repeated attacks on them, to secure their co-operation in the present movement against northern hostile Sioux. H. M. Curtis, of Rawlins, who had been dispatched to the Ute reservation to bring in the detachment, returned to-night and telegraphed to Capt. Nickerson as follows: "In obedience to your dispatch of June 27th, I proceeded to gather up the Ute Indians. I went as far as White river, and my mission was successful until I was stopped by E. H. Danforth, United States Indian agent, who forbid me taking an Indian from the reservation until he was authorized by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs to let them go. The head chief at the agency said 'Tell Gen. Crook I would like to go.'"

Reinforcements for Crook.

Gen. Merrill with the Fifth cavalry, arrived at Fort Laramie to-day, and will move north via Fort Fetterman, to join Crook, from whom no additional news has been received, although no fears are entertained of the safety of his command. Custer's late action has had the effect to take the courage out of the couriers, and none can be had to make the trip with dispatches for Crook.

Four companies of the Twenty-second Infantry, consisting of 12 officers and 142 men arrived at Fort Lincoln and will start for Terry's command.

YANKTON, Dakota, July 15.—Six companies of the Fifth cavalry under Gen. Smith arrived en route for Big Horn to reinforce Gen. Terry. They leave to-day for the seat of war.

The Little Horn Massacre.

The Chicago Tribune's special from Fort Lincoln says that Sitting Bull was killed, also a white man named Milburn, Sitting Bull's chief adviser.

The wounded soldiers are recovering and there will be no more deaths.

It is thought that Sitting Bull's band obtained nearly $20,000, the soldiers having just been paid.

Belief that the Military Authorities Underrate their Work.

CHICAGO, July 15.—The Times' Bismarck special says the impression prevails here that the military authorities do not realize the work they have to do. The Indians in the hostile camps are believed to number 10,000, while there are many women and children, nearly all of whom are effective in a campaign. There are certainly from five to seven thousand Indians who can and will fight until subdued, and the fate of Custer should be a warning that they intend to make thorough work, and have confidence in their ability to do it. There is little uneasiness among citizens east of the Missouri river, though they, as well as most of the military posts, are without sufficient protection, should the Indians determine to raid that locality. The so-called forts on the upper Missouri are mere posts or a collection of cheap frame buildings, in every instance destitute of earthworks, and generally no stockade of any nature. Rice Lincoln and Stevenson would fall before 500 warriors who would dare to make a charge, if they used fire in connection with other weapons. There are less than 3,000 troops, all told, operating against the Indians, and nearly half of these are used in guarding wagon trains or supply depots, while there seems to be a disposition on the part of each command to win glory for itself without the aid of co-operating forces. Until more effective measures are taken, we may look for continued disaster or an abortive campaign. Colonel Burke, Indian agent at Standing Rock, writes that there can be no peace until the hostile bands are broken and subdued; that the most horrible crimes may be committed under the noses of the agents or military, and a moment afterward the perpetrator is on his way to the hostiles, where, being desperate he becomes one of the bravest of the brave; not only this but white outlaws from mining camps and other points in the territories, and from the British possessions find an asylum among the Indians, and having organized them enjoy peculiar facilities for gaining arms and ammunition. The hostiles are rich in plunder, rich in horses and rich in the fruits of the chase, and each Indian agency and trading post becomes a base of supplies to them which they have abundant means to obtain.

News from Black Hills—Indian Outrages.

BURLINGTON, Iowa, July 15.—C. W. Hanscome, arrived from Custer City to-day. He says he left Custer City on the 28th of June, and has come through direct. He says the company of Hanscome, Cook and Custer was at work on a dry gulch claim which was paying twenty dollars per day to the man. On the 20th of June the party were at work in the gulch, and had just received a new hydraulic engine and had been engaged during the day in placing it, when about ten o'clock the camp was jumped by Indians who captured nine horses and killed the following of the party: Carter, W. A. Brown, Wm. Brown, Henry Brown, Lowell Valentine, John H. Huff and Wm. Page. Hanscome and Cook cut their way through the Indian circle and escaped. On returning next day they found their companions terribly mutilated and scalped, also the absence of 900 pounds of provisions, the machinery was buried in the gulch, and Mr. Hanscome started out with the remains of Mr. Carter, and has forwarded them to Liverpool, England. Cook remains to guard the property until his return. Mr. Hanscome says the Hills are full of rascals, bawdy houses and gamblers, who trade and sell ammunition to anybody; and thinks this is one way in which the Indians get ammunition. He says the men who go to work can get good pay for it, and that the Hills are rich with gold, but can be got only by labor and attention with means to buy machinery. He states there were rumors in Custer City that the command was being held at bay to the east of Custer and detained from making headway.

Custer's Fatal Haste—Terry wants to Unite with Crook.

CHEYENNE, Wyoming, July 15.—The following was received from Fort Fetterman to-night: Three soldiers, courriers from Gen. Terry, at mouth of Big Horn, just arrived. Gen. Terry's dispatch to Crook confirms Custer's fate, and implies very plainly that had Custer waited one day longer, Gibbon would have joined him. Terry is anxious for Crook to join forces, make plans and execute them regardless of rank. The Indians are still hovering about Little Big Horn, one day's hard march from here. They fire into camp every night of late, and tried to burn us out by setting the grass on fire all around. On the 6th, Lieut. Sibley, Co. E 2d Cavalry, with 25 men, and Frank Gruard and Baptiste Pourriere as scouts, went on a reconnoissance. They were discovered, surrounded and followed into the timber of the Big Horn mountains, where, by hitching their horses to trees and abandoning them, the men were enabled to escape on foot by way of a ravine in the rear, and they all got back to camp. Probably this diversion saved the camp from a grand attempt at stampede or capture. The Snake Indians, 200 strong, joined us here yesterday, but unless the Utes also come soon, no offensive operations will likely take place until the arrival of the 5th Cavalry from Cheyenne crossing. The wagon train and additional infantry are due from Fetterman to-day. The health of the command is good. Gen. Gibbons' reserve force were met by the victorious Sioux, dressed in Custer's men's clothes and mounted on their horses firing into the soldiers. The Indian village possessed evidences of white men's presence, kegs of whisky, etc., being found. Signal fires, supposed to be in reference to the incoming wagon train, are visible to the east of Crook's camp on the extreme south waters of Tongue river.

Reinforcements for Sitting Bull—Plan to Intercept them.

CHEYENNE, July 16.—In consequence of a report from Capt. Jordan commanding Camp Robinson that 800 Cheyennes were about to leave Red Cloud agency for the North, Gen. Merritt has delayed the proposed movement of the 5th cavalry northward from Fort Laramie to join Crook, and has moved it to a position where he expects to intercept these Indians, and if possible to give them a warm reception. The two couriers started on their return trip from Fetterman for Crook's camp this evening and will reach him in three days.

Indian Outrage.

James Maloney and two others, with twenty head of horses en route for Lawrence's ranch from that of W. C. Irvine, 40 miles northwest of Ogallalla, Neb., were attacked by seven Indians who surrounded and opened fire on them. Dismounting they returned the fire, wounding one Indian, when the stock stampeded, the Indians finally gaining possession of it and left for the bluff.

More Troops to Gen. Terry.

Besides the troops taken from the forts here one company goes from Sackett's Harbor to reinforce Terry.

POLITICAL.

Conkling's Choice for Governor of New York.

CHICAGO, July 11.—A dispatch from New York to the Tribune says that Senator Conkling has sent orders to Collector Arthur, the head of the Republican organization of New York, stating to him that he desires the nomination of A. B. Cornell for governor, and every effort will be made by Conkling's friends to that end. Cornell is very unpopular, and it is difficult to see how he either can be nominated or elected. Conkling's term expires in 1879 and he thinks it is important to him that the governor in office at that time should be in his interest.

Ex-Gov. Morgan who aspires to be governor, will doubtless be a candidate for senator, and it is equally important to Conkling that he should be defeated now before the convention. There is strong talk of nominating Evarts or G. W. Curtis but either will be accident rather than otherwise.

The Democrats talk of Seymour for governor with Dorsheimer for lieutenant governor, the former to go into Tilden's cabinet if elected.

Hayes success in this State largely depends on the gubernatorial contest.

An Independent Congressman in Ohio.

The Register, an independent paper at Chillicothe, Ohio announces Hon. L. G. D[illegible] as an independent candidate for Congress from that district.

Gen. Butler will not Run for Congress this Fall.

LOWELL, July 15.—It is understood that General Butler has abandoned the idea of running for Congress in the coming election.

Gov. Tilden's Letter Delayed by Press of Business.

ALBANY, July 15.—Gov. Tilden has returned from Saratoga, having been called away by the pressure of official business. It will be several weeks before he can devote any attention to his letter of acceptance.

Miscellaneous.

Connecticut Republicans talk of nominating Jewell for governor as the best method of emphasizing the Republican divorce from Grantism. Jewell has promised to stump Indiana for Hayes and Wheeler.

North Carolina Republicans, having nominated Judge Settle for governor, which thoroughly unites the party, express strong hopes of carrying the whole November ticket.

Tilden and Hendricks are both at Saratoga Springs conferring on Tilden's letter of acceptance. The difficulty is to ascertain how Tilden can mix his hard money oil with Hendrick's soft water.

There is much adverse criticism of Cameron's holding the chairmanship of the National Republican Committee while a member of Grant's cabinet. Strong appeals are making to him to resign.

Advices from Alabama indicate that Spencer's persistence in running a bolting Republican ticket there will give the Democrats a majority in the state.

Gen. Wood's Charleston News reports that since the recent massacre at Hamburg the condition of the negroes, is that of terrified submission. The same journal says two of the bodies of the negroes were mutilated with hatchets or bayonets, and that nearly all the killed had families and the grief and distress of the women and children were violent and heartrending. Such statements from leading Tilden journalists of the South are doing more than the Cincinnati platform to excite Northerners in favor of the Republican party, pledged to secure to all citizens protection.

Tammany and Anti-Tammany Democratic Struggle in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, July 15.—The Democrats held a primary election to-day to the State convention, to be held at Jefferson on the 19th inst. The struggle was between what is called Tammany and anti-Tammany, the former favoring George G. Best for Governor. The returns are not all in yet, but the probabilities seem to be that the Tammany delegates are the most numerous.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Civil Appropriation Bill as Amended.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The sundry civil appropriation bill, as it passed the House, originally appropriated $11,857,000; in its passage through the Senate $15,[illegible]900 was added in the bill. As agreed upon by the conference committee, the Senate recedes from its former views to the amount of $412,900, and the House recedes and allows to be added to the bill the sum of $950,000 making the appropriation in the bill about $15,800,000.

Kilbourn's Board Bill.

H. Kilbourn has told the Capitol Restaurant to sue the United States for his board bill.

False Statement.

The Times says the statement that the President ordered Morrill to make certain removals in the Treasury is false.

The President Prostrated by Heat.

The Sun's Washington special says President Grant was prostrated yesterday by the heat, and his physician has ordered him to take a recess.

Grant Dissatisfied with Hayes' Letter of Acceptance.

The Tribune's Washington special says that the President, one day last week, gave audience to an Ohio private citizen, one in no way connected with public life, and voluntarily talked with him on the political situation. Among other things, the President criticised very severely Hayes' letter, and thought it reflected on the Administration. He further said to this gentleman: "I hope the time will come when the American people will be permitted to elect their President for as long a time as they choose." The President's entire manner indicated complete dissatisfaction with the political situation and much personal anger. The feeling is growing that the President has cut loose from his party affiliations, and is reckless of his official acts on the party in the future. Indeed, he says he don't intend to be governed by advice of Republican Senators, but have his friend around him. If he pardons the whisky thieves already convicted, as it is feared he probably will, the Republican journals and organs will openly disavow him and show he was disavowed at the close of his term.

Agreement on the Army Bill.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The committee of conference on the army appropriation bill reached an agreement to-day, and their report will be presented on Monday, or perhaps this afternoon, if it can be prepared in time. It will recommend that all House legislation for reorganizing the army and reducing the pay of officers shall be omitted from the bill, and provisions inserted for a commission to investigate these subjects and report to Congress at the next session. The Senate increased the amount of the House bills nearly $4,000,000, but according to compromise bill, not agreed on, this increase will be reduced about $140,000. Although the force and pay of the army remain unchanged, the revised total of the bill will show a reduction of $2,296,000 as compared with the army appropriation bill of last year.

Treasury Appointments.

South Guthrie has been appointed cashier of the treasury; J. W. Wheelily, assistant cashier, F. W. Moffatt paying teller, and H. A. Whitney, receiving teller.

The Fast Mail to be Discontinued.

The Postmaster General has been informed by Vanderbilt and Col. Scott that the fast mail service will be discontinued on and after Saturday next.

Pension for Mrs. Gen. Custer.

The House has granted a pension of $50 a month to the widow of Gen. Custer.

The River and Harbor Bill.

The House attempt at economy fails to extend to the river and harbor bill. The Senate committee on commerce tried to correct its extravagance, but a combination of Senators of both parties defeated the committee utterly, adding nearly a million dollars probably to the House total.

The House Likely to be Kept without a Quorum.

Reports from Washington indicate danger that the House will be left without a quorum if Congress fails to adjourn very soon. The intensely hot weather is driving members away like the cholera. Already more than one-third are absent for the session; but until the Belknap impeachment case is finally disposed of, the House is indisposed to fix an adjournment.

Reported Discovery of Evidence to Impeach Robeson.

The Tribune's Washington special says, the report of the House on naval affairs will be made early next week. The Democratic members of the committee say they have discovered evidence sufficient to warrant the impeachment of Secretary Robeson. It is likely they will declare him unfit to continue in office, but not recommend his impeachment for the reason that proofs may not be sufficiently direct and complete to enable them to make out a case. The Republican members are preparing a minority report which will acquit Robeson of any dishonest action. One of the strongest points made in the majority report will be the proof that there is a deficit in the bureau of clothing and provisions of over a million, which the officers of the department cannot explain.

Real Estate Pool Investigations.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The real estate pool committee continued the investigation into ex-sergeant-at-arms Ordway's accounts to-day. Aaron Bradshaw, deputy, testified that he did not get a full settlement for much of the mileage due him until this month. Mr. Bradshaw, another deputy, testified he was compelled to perform service as clerk for the Market House Co., partly owned by Ordway, during the absence of one of the Market House clerks, and while he was being paid on the rolls at the capitol. Capt. Blackford, of the capitol police, who went south as deputy sergeant at arms for the Louisiana investigating committee and who disbursed money on the trip, produced his accounts of items paid out while away, which he turned over to Ordway on his return. The chairman of the committee had before him, during the examination, vouchers put in by Ordway of the same expenditures and nearly every item on the vouchers had been raised several dollars higher than the account turned in by Blackford, who testified his account, as rendered, was correct. The committee await explanations from Ordway.

Postponement of Action on Reviving the Silver Dollar.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The postponement of Congressional action on the question of reviving the old silver dollar with unlimited legal tender power was effected by the combination of those who believe the proposition is financially or morally wrong and those who were convinced that an attempt to secure the concurrence of the Senate on this proposition would involve prolonged debate and prevent final action this session for the issue of a sufficient amount of subsidiary coin needed for change. Senator Jones impromptu speech against the adoption of the conference report on this subject was mainly characterized by a lament over Congressional failure to embrace the silver opportunity and a gloomy prediction of the consequences that will result. He did not know why so promising a beginning should have so small an ending. The issue of debased subsidiary coin for which alone the consolidated bill provided, would not relieve the wants of the country. Fractional paper currency would do as well or better, because cheaper. Referring to the arguments that no dollar should be made an unlimited legal tender, he said he had proposed a silver dollar worth as much as any dollar that any debtor in this country owes. Gentlemen were asking for an ideal unit that had not existed here since 1862. Nobody has been doing business on the gold dollar. He continued: I hold it to be sound in political economy and philosophy that it is against our interest that any gold should be used as a circulating medium in this country until we have paid our debts. What an unheard of proposition, that a country burdened with two billion dollars of public debt should attempt to introduce a machine for effecting its internal exchange that would raise the burden of such debt at least 20 per cent. and not only this, but increase also the weight of the vast amount of corporate, municipal, State, county and city debts. I want to know why the seven or eight thousand millions of private debts which exist in addition to those of the nation, States and municipalities and which were engendered in greenbacks shall be increased in the interest of creditors and to the ruin of the debtor. I tell you it is not the money-lender that gives prosperity to the country; it is the active business man; it is the borrower, the hopeful, the industrious, the enterprising man who is always in debt. That is the man who lends fleetness to the wings of commerce, that is the man who gives elasticity to the flagging footsteps of industry. It is not the man, who instead of inaugurating enterprises, sits back and lends money, and if any legislation is to be had it should be in favor of the masses of the people of the country. Let a few honest words be said for Lazarus. Let us not always be nodding to Dives. We hear a wail throughout this country from certain classes whenever you propose to make money plentiful so as to keep up prices at the range in which they were when debts were contracted. We hear a wail lest somebody with a fixed income is going to be hurt. We have heard no words of encouragement, of defense, for that much larger class who have neither income, fixed nor unfixed, but who have very fixed obligations to meet. He warned the Senate of the serious condition of business affairs throughout the country and claimed that the means for equitable liquidation is to be found in the silver dollar. That, as previously shown we now have the opportunity to purchase silver with greenbacks, owing to the temporary rise in gold and fall in silver, caused by Germany's demonetization of silver. Now was the propitious moment, which might never return. We needed and could absorb just the amount of silver which Germany has to sell. We must soon either extend our paper currency or repudiate it. He said if we failed to restore the silver dollar to full legal tender and so neglect the mining interests of the country, the mines of the Sierra Nevadas would be closed, and if once abandoned would never be reopened. Moreover, by assisting to lower the purchasing power of silver, we would deny ourselves all the profits in the great Asiatic commerce. We would render almost valueless a vast portion of our possessions stretching from Mexico to Alaska. Adding to this one sided taxes on iron and steel tools, chemicals, and the numerous other commodities employed in production of silver, Congress would cause great discontent among the people of the Pacific coast and induce them to believe they are denied that equal protection and encouragement which they are entitled to under the terms of the constitution. Said he, we have protected everything in our laws except the precious metals. Codfish, shoestrings and tombstones are protected, but not gold and silver. These great metals which differ from all other substances in these most important respects, that there is a vast stock of them on hand in the world stored up from ages. These bases of contracts; these conservators of prices of relations between capital and labor, of property, of civilization—these, we do not protect at all. More than this we propose to destroy that one of them which we produce in the greatest abundance and adopt the one which Great Britain almost monopolizes. Jones closed as follows: It is claimed that the issue of token coins under the bills now before us will be a step toward resumption of specie payment in the East. I maintain that, on the contrary, it is a step toward the suspension of specie payments in the West. The Pacific coast States, and some Territories, and to some extent also Texas, have a specie currency, and have never suspended specie payments. This currency, according to the custom of the country and under the law as at present construed is of gold. In this state of affairs Congress lately enacted a law issuing several millions of silver coin, which were sent to these States and put into circulation, the government receiving for them their nominal value in gold, thus making some 10 to 15 per cent. by the operation, and flooding these States with a large amount of subsidiary coins. After having done this, the government under the present bill will turn right round and sell this same sort of subsidiary coin to the Eastern States for par in greenbacks. The Pacific States took this coin, and gave gold for it with the understanding from the law as it then stood, and relying upon the good faith of government that none of it would be issued except for gold. But in violation of this faith, and after you sold all you could for gold, you sold the same coin in the East for greenbacks, which is at 12 per cent. discount in gold. By compelling Pacific States to pay you gold for what you are now selling for greenbacks, you wronged them out of $600,000, and by now issuing fifty millions more of this token coinage you will compel them to suspend specie payments. Already your token coins are at a discount of 6 per cent. in San Francisco, and this depreciation will be aggregated by the present bill. You have in effect left that coast without any par fractional currency for their gold coins. This anomalous state of affairs has produced a derangement of currency. Wholesale prices are quoted in gold and retail prices in debased silver. There can be but one ending to this, and that ending will be suspension. The Pacific coast community must have small coins, and the value of those coins must be in accord with the larger ones. The former cannot be repudiated because there must be fractional currency, and there is no way of replacing the debased coins. Our banks cannot issue fractional notes, but gold will cease to be paid. By this time there will be a suspension of specie payments and the exportation of some thirty millions of gold from the country. Yet the legislation which is responsible for it is styled by others, and complacently regarded as a step toward specie payments.

The conference report was adopted by the Senate without a formal vote.

The Pacific coast members were thus recorded on the question of adopting it: Page and Piper voted aye. Lane and Woodburn, no. Luttrell did not vote and Wigginton was sick, at home.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The bill reported Monday by Wright to extend the duration of the court of commissioners of Alabama claims, passed with amendment making the time Jan. 1, 1878.

The chair laid before the Senate the resolutions of the Argentine Congress, congratulating America on the celebration of her Centennial anniversary; ordered printed.

The river and harbor appropriation bill was then taken up. Among amendments of the committee agreed to were the following: For improvement of Upper Mississippi from $[illegible] to $30,000, for improvement of Rock Island rapid, Miss., from $20,000 to $30,000, appropriating $18,000 for removal of bar in Mississippi river opposite Dubuque; to enable the Secretary of War to ascertain the depth of water secured by Eads' improvement at South Pass, from $15,000 to $25,000; for improvement of the mouth of the Mississippi, from $[illegible] to $[illegible].

Wright submitted amendments appropriating $10,000 for improvement of harbor at Fort Madison, and $10,000 for improvement of Rush Chute and harbor of Burlington, Iowa; agreed to.

On motion of Cameron, of Wisconsin, appropriation of $10,000 for improving the harbor of Menominee, was restored.

Paddock submitted an amendment providing that $15,000 of the $125,000 appropriated for the improvement of Mississippi, Missouri and Arkansas rivers shall be expended for improving the Missouri river; agreed to.

The Senate adopted the committee's suggestion increasing the appropriation for the construction of a canal around the Cascades, Columbia river, from $90,000 to $300,000.

Mitchell submitted an amendment, providing that $10,000 of the amount for the Columbia river canal may be expended in securing a right of way through adjoining lands; agreed to.

Edmunds said as this bill came from the House of Representatives it appropriated $5,872,850, the committee on appropriations reduced that amount about $800,000 and then by amendments increased the bill about $136,000, making an increase of about $36,000 as compared with the House bill. The Senate increased the amount fixed by committee on appropriations by reinstating all the provisions of the House bill, which the committee recommended to strike out and had added other amendments, which made the sum total of the bill now about $7,000,000, and that was done in view of the revised estimates of the engineers. He submitted the following as a substitute for the bill: Be it enacted, etc., that the sum of $4,000,000 is hereby appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1877, to be expended for the repair, extension, surveying and completion of works for the improvement of rivers and harbors under the direction of the Secretary of War, provided that the Secretary of War is hereby authorized to cause such expenditures to be made so as best to subserve the interests of commerce, and he is required to report to Congress at the opening of its December session all expenditures made under the provisions of this act up to that time in detail.

Ferry said he was sorry to say all who voted for the amendment to this bill did not prove to be its friends. An attempt was now made to kill the bill, and the result would be, we would have no river and harbor bill this year. He hoped now the Senate would accept the bill as it came from the House and asked the friends of the measure to waive all special improvements for their own localities.

Thurman said Edmunds' substitute proposed to place $4,000,000 in the hands of a single officer for disbursement. He did not think the one selected should be a political officer, but should be one wholly removed from politics. He gave notice that he would submit an amendment to strike out "Secretary of War" and insert "Chief Engineer." He was opposed, however to placing so large an amount in the hands of any man, and moved the bill be recommitted to the committee on appropriations with instructions to reduce the appropriations to $4,000,000.

Ferry moved an amendment instructing the committee on appropriations to report the House bill. He was willing to place himself upon the judgment of the House, the people's body.

Howe opposed the recommittal of the bill and should have a voice in the legislature.

Gordon hoped Ferry would withdraw his motion and let the House bill be accepted, by non-concurring in all the amendments proposed by the committee on appropriations or committee of the whole.

Ferry accepted the suggestion and withdrew his motion.

Allison argued that the committee was acting in the interests of economy, but had not been sustained by the Senate.

Pending the discussion some private bills were presented, and the Senate adjourned.

House.

Upon voting the pension to the widow of Gen. Custer Williams, of Michigan, asked leave also to introduce a bill granting a pension of $50 a month to the father and mother of Gen. Custer.

Rusk and Ainsworth objected on the ground of its irregular way of coming before the House.

Cannon suggested that the committee on invalid pensions should at an early day report a bill granting pensions to the children of men who fell under the lead of Custer.

The House then went into committee of the whole on the bill for protection of the Texas frontier.

Dunnell opposed that part of the bill which allows U. S. troops to pursue marauders in Mexico.

The committee rose for a few moments, and the committee on invalid pensions reported a bill granting a pension of $50 a month each to the father and mother of Custer, and it was passed without division.

Conger moved that the committee on pensions be instructed to report a bill for the relief of the families of those who fell under Custer. Jencks objected, and the House went into committee of the whole on the Texas bill.

After discussion the committee voted on the bill by sections—First section providing for the military force on the Rio Grande was amended in several particulars.

Smalls offered an amendment providing that no troops shall be withdrawn from South Carolina so long as the militia of that State were peacefully assembled, are assailed, disarmed, taken prisoners, and then massacred in cold blood by lawless bands of men invading that State from the State of Georgia. He sent to the clerk's desk and had read the newspaper statements of the Hamburg massacre of six colored men.

Cochrane asked Smalls who was the writer of the article?

Smalls replied the letter was written to him by an eye witness, and he had sent it for publication.

Cochrane—Who is the writer?

Smalls—If the gentleman desires his name to be given in order that the writer may be killed, he will not get it from me. He is a lawyer in the town of Aiken.

Conger charged that cutting down the army was to prevent troops being sent into States where lawless men take the lives of peaceable citizens.

Cox said the object of the amendment is to get up a cry through all this land this fall, for bad purposes—malignant hate, spite, bloody-shirtism.

Hartridge said it was intended to subserve partisan purposes. The amendment did gross injury to an honorable and gallant gentleman, Gen. M. C. Butler, and to the people of Georgia. The people of Augusta had no immediate representative present. The hand of providence pressed heavily on that gifted gentleman and it was therefore his (Hartridge's) pride and pleasure to protest against such imputations as that conveyed by the amendment upon a community distinguished for its intelligence, integrity, virtue, adherence to law and the constitution. No one regretted the unfortunate occurrences at Hamburg more than the people of Georgia did. Its newspapers, all Democratic, were demanding an investigation and were stamping the matter with their condemnation. An investigation, ordered by the Governor of South Carolina was now going on, and it would have been well to have waited till the results of that inquest were published before throwing such a fire-brand into this assembly.

Rainey made an earnest appeal on behalf of his race. He asked what the white men on military parade on the 4th of July would think of a demand by two men driving in a buggy that they should break their ranks and let them pass. He asked the proud Southerners, who boasted of their bravery and their chivalry, if they would stand it, and did they expect negroes to stand it? Did they expect men of his race to submit to continued persecution and massacres? He asked the House, in the name of humanity and of God, to tell him whether they should be American citizens, with all the rights and immunities of such, or vassals and slaves again.

Without coming to a vote on the amendment, the House adjourned.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Turko-Servian War.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 14.—The following news is official: The Servian division which entered Turkey by way of Yenenevarocke was dispersed on the 12th inst.

Seventy Christian families who fled from the neighborhood of Metrowitza with the Servian troops, surrendered after the defeat of the latter and were sent home.

The Turks attacked the Servian camp at Sontchanitcha, near Noir River; the Servians were defeated and fled.

The Servians and Bulgarians who appeared near Widdin were defeated and fled to Servia; their loss was considerable.

Austria neither favors nor opposes the petition of Bosnian Catholics for the annexation of Bosnia to Austria.

The Times' Vienna dispatch says there are dissensions among the Servian leaders; each desires to have his own way, but all are against Tchernayoff as a foreigner.

An examination of the authentic text of Gen. Tchernayoff's recent proclamation, shows that he did not promote Russian volunteer officers, and if Servia was defeated it was not because of incompetent foreign officers.

A dispatch from Belgrade, dated last night says the Servian Drina army yesterday completed its entrenchment, whereby the route by which the Turks received their supplies is broken off.

The Pesther, Widdin, says that on Wednesday, Colby, with three battalions, attacked the Servians seventeen miles hence and drove them to the Lower Timoke, with great loss.

On Friday, Fazle Pasha, with eight battalions, will attempt the passage of the Lower Timoke.

A dispatch says the Roumanian foreign minister has informed a Parliamentary committee that the government is unwilling to act on its own responsibility relative to the passage of volunteers through Roumania. The committee seems inclined to prohibit the passage, in accordance with representations from Turkey.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 15.—Several detachments of Egyptian troops have arrived.

A telegram from the Governor of Bosnia officially reports the defeat of the Servians at Sontchanitcha, as heretofore reported. The Servians fled abandoning their ammunition and provision train.

It is officially announced that the Turkish General, Selim Pasha has gained an important victory over the Montenegrins between Gatchko and Nevesunja, and effected a junction with the Turks at Nevesunja.

RAGUSA, July 15.—A Turkish corps having been surrounded at Metshakta, it proposed to capitulate Thursday. The Montenegrins occupy the whole district of Gatschako with the exception of the entrenchments commanding the town, in which 2,000 Turks are surrounded. A considerable body of Montenegrins is marching toward Nevesinje where a battle will probably be fought.

The Great Powers will Remain Neutral.

The week's developments confirm the belief that the European powers will remain neutral in the Servian troubles. This policy is entirely satisfactory to Russia, for when Turkey dies of suicide or other cause, is her opportunity for conquest of the territory.

The Salonica Outrage.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 15.—The sentence upon the persons tried in connection with the second outrage at Salonica has been increased. The chief of police is degraded from rank and given fifteen years' penal servitude. The commander of the Turkish frigate is degraded from rank and given ten years' imprisonment, and the commander of the citadel is sentenced to three years' confinement in the fortress.

Turkey Throws the Responsibility of the War on Servia.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 15.—The newspapers publish the declaration of the government throwing upon Servia the responsibility of the present struggle, and adding that the Porte will attempt to bring it to a prompt close in order to carry out the projected reforms and improvements. An official dispatch from Nissa announces the defeat of the Servians near Churkey with a considerable loss.

Fine Stock for the International Cattle Show.

LONDON, July 15.—The steamer Erin, which sails hence August 12th for New York, will take numerous live stock for the International cattle show at Philadelphia.

The Thunderer Disaster.

LONDON, July 15.—Twenty five of the crew of the Thunderer are dead. The bodies are shockingly mutilated, the flesh being stripped from the limbs by the escaping steam. The forward stoke hole, where the explosion occurred, was divided from the after stoke hole by a water-tight bulkhead, and the stokers in the latter were protected from the fragments caused by the explosion, but were literally burned alive by steam. Thirty deaths have already resulted and half of the wounded are not expected to recover.

Do not Appreciate the Title of Empress.

LONDON, July 16.—The court circular says that at a banquet given by Sir Salar Jung a few days ago, he proposed the health of the Empress of India. One distinguished member of the House of Commons, said to be John Bright, abstained from responding while other guests simply drank to the Queen. It is said that the Prince of Wales who was present, has since asked for an explanation of the occurrence.

Failures.

Thomas Wingate & Co., ship builders, Glasgow, have called a meeting of their creditors. They claim their assets will considerably exceed their liabilities, which are placed at $330,000.

George & Richard Saxton, printers have failed, liabilities, $250,000.

The Turf.

Sanford American, has two entries for the Derby of 1877 and Oaks. Mate is fourth in betting for the Goodwood stakes. Lord Rosebery is expected to retire from the turf. His stud in training is advertised for sale.

Gov. Hayes, though not a professing Christian, has always maintained the practice of reading the Scriptures, night and morning, in his family, and after the chapter is read they all kneel down and repeat the Lord's prayer.

The Olympia Weekly Echo is now published on Saturday instead of Thursday as heretofore.

Wilson, of Iowa, on the Chinese Problem.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—As indicative to a certain extent of the feeling among Eastern people regarding the Chinese question, may be quoted the views of James F. Wilson, ex-member of Congress from Iowa and chairman of the judiciary committee during his term, who is here on a pleasure and observation trip. He holds that the Chinese should be treated like any other class of foreigners, and that municipal regulations are amply sufficient to cope with the problem of their residence among us. He claims that the Chinese plank of Republican platform is superior to that of the Democratic, inasmuch as it simply provides for the investigation of the subject without committing the party to any line of action; and says the abrogation or modification of the Burlingame treaty excites very little interest among the Eastern people, as they have not been brought in contact with the Chinese, and look upon the subject with indifference.

Fire in Oakland.

A fire broke out last night in the block bounded by Broadway and Franklin and Sixth and Seventh streets, Oakland. A stiff breeze was blowing, and the flames spread in every direction, threatening the entire block. On Seventh street the Central House, a two story frame house occupied as a saloon by Fred Whitworth, O'Connel's saloon and lodging house (two-story) and a building adjoining, occupied by Clavelot, machinist, and Chinese washhouse, were soon on fire and within a half hour were completely destroyed. The sheds and outhouses of Barnum's restaurant, the Orleans House, and about every other building in the block, were completely destroyed. The Orleans House was on fire, but saved with great effort. The Winthrop House was considerably damaged by water.

Destructive Fire in San Francisco.

Twenty minutes past 3 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in the cooper shops on Oregon street, between Davis and Drumm, and in a few minutes the buildings adjoining were on fire. The fierceness of the flames in the shops baffled all efforts to save anything, and the attention of the firemen was directed to prevent the spread of the fire among the numerous frame buildings composing the block bounded by Davis, Jackson, Drumm and Oregon streets. Six buildings were burned on Jackson street. Besides the cooper shops, which extended through to Oregon street, a butcher shop and a tenement house, the residence of eight families, were destroyed on Oregon street. Two of the buildings on Jackson were used as sailor boarding houses. About fifteen families were turned out of homes by the fire. It is rumored that three children were burned. The origin of the fire is attributed by some to the carelessness of the night watchman in the cooper shops. Loss about $10,000, with partial insurance.

Alameda Square Taken by the City by Force.

The municipal authorities have finally taken possession of Alameda Square, West Addition, which has been forcibly held by adverse claimants. The police force found the building on the ground occupied by armed men, who threatened to shoot, but on being attacked fled without firing. The building was demolished and the material removed from the square.

NEVADA.

Reported Suspension of the Richmond Mining Co.

EUREKA, July 15.—It is rumored that the Richmond Mining Co. will suspend operations on the first of August. The great decline in silver is assigned as the cause of the suspension. Part of the management are inclined to continue active operations, provided all the men in the employ of the company would stand a reduction of 50 cents a day each on their wages, while the present low figures for silver shall rule, with the understanding that the price of labor should be advanced to the old rate whenever the silver market will warrant the change. It is hardly probable, however, that such an arrangement could be effected with the miners, for the reasons they well understand the difficulty of getting the wages advanced when once cut down.

CRIMES AND CASUALTIES.

John X. Miller and John W. White, of Jackson county, are each under $300 bonds for attempting to kill a Chinaman on Jackson creek.

William Edwards, employed in Allen & Rogers' saw-mill at Albany, had the little finger on the left hand taken off on the 14th, by the slab saw.

While on their way to Dallas two teams got to racing near Monmouth, when in crossing a rough place a lady and her babe were thrown from a wagon, the infant sustaining severe injuries.

While engaged in dressing a piece of casting at Roseburg, several days since, a son of Mr. Redfield met with quite a serious accident. A spark flew from the metal, and striking him in the eye, destroyed the sight.

Joseph Kent, of Douglas county, has been arrested on a charge of rape upon the person of his sister-in-law, a girl of 16 years. Kent has a wife and children, and claims he will establish his innocence of the alleged crime beyond a doubt.

On the 5th inst., while between Strawberry Valley and Redding, coming this way, the team attached to one of the California and Oregon Stage Co.'s stages, became unmanageable, and running away, upset the stage, injuring three gentlemen and one lady riding inside.

On Saturday the 8th, the large barn belonging to Mr. H. Corum, at the lower Deschutes bridge, in Wasco county, was totally destroyed by fire, with about two thirds of Mr. Corum's hay crop. It is not known how the fire originated. The loss is about $1,000, and no insurance.

One day last week, says the Eugene Guard, in Long Tom precinct three young men went to the house of McKinney, who is going about on crutches from the effects of a cut foot, and began an assault on him. His wife attempted to assist him and was knocked down by one of them. A young man passing the road also came to the rescue, and was pounded for his pains. The assailants then fled, but afterwards appeared before Justice Luce and plead guilty to assault and were fined.

On Sunday morning last, while a team was crossing at one of the ferries on the Puyallup river, an unfortunate occurrence caused the loss of the wagon, while the team escaped uninjured. Just as the horses stepped upon the ferry the rope which held it to the shore broke, and the boat began to move away from the bank. The wagon was pulled into the water, and for a little while it was feared the horses would be dragged overboard, but the traces were cut and the vehicle set adrift. The wagon belonged to a farmer, and the articles which it contained, such as valises and camp equipments, belonged to a small surveying party.

On Tuesday of last week while Mr. Sylvester Stackhouse, living on Fifteen-Mile creek, Wasco county, was engaged in adjusting the gate-board of his wagon—his wife assisting him—the horses suddenly started forward, thus causing Mr. S. to fall, and in some way the end of the gate board struck him full in the stomach. He was assisted to rise, and on being asked if he was much hurt, he replied, "No, I think not," but in a few minutes he complained of a pain in his breast, and, throwing up his hands, fell down and immediately expired. A post mortem examination revealed the fact that the aorta had been ruptured. Instantaneous death was, of course, the inevitable result.

THE TERRITORIES.

But one case is before the supreme court of Washington Territory at its present session.

Leading men of the Osage Indian Nation protest against the establishment of a territorial form of government for the Indian country.

Samuel F. Combs, of Seattle, James Powers, of Whatcom, and Lewell Truax, of Walla Walla, have been appointed notaries public by Governor Ferry.

GOOD ADVICE

The Israelitish convention which has lately been in session in Washington has given some excellent advice respecting the proper observance of the Sabbath and the choice of a livelihood which merits the approval of all good people

The convention in its report urges parents to require their children to go to Sabbath schools and learn to love and respect that day and in order to induce the children to do so, it advises parents to provide a programme for that day which shall be useful and pleasant This is most excellent advice There are many well-meaning persons who, in their zeal to do good nauseate their children and force them to hate the Sabbath as the dreariest and most fatiguing day of the seven By allowing the children nothing to read but the dullest and gloomiest of books they learn to associate what is good with what is disagreeable, and what is pleasant with what is bad and to prefer the latter while if a little less rigorous course had been followed a different result might have been attained Perhaps two-thirds of those who have had good opportunities and who have gone wrong have been induced to do so by reason of too much rigidity on the part of their parents in the matter of the observance of the Sabbath That day is designed to be a day of rest—physical and mental—and in addition thereto to be a day devoted chiefly, but not wholly, to the worship of God The ideas of those who would eliminate from it all sorts of pleasures of every kind and degree are as wrong as are those of the persons who would give it up to unrestrained gaiety The Israelites in convention at Washington seem to have hit upon the [illegible] of combining proper instruction with proper amusement, and we think it is the true one.

Nor are they less right in encouraging the training of youth in mechanical and agricultural pursuits in preference to following a mercantile career The business of a merchant is far more uncertain one than that of a mechanic or farmer and is certainly no more respectable We are glad to see such practical and useful ideas advanced, and we hope they will be adopted generally

SOUTHERNERS IN THE UNION ARMY

The Baltimore Sun, a very prudent paper, which rarely ever makes misstatements, attributes the following statements to Gen D H Hill Gen Hill was a gallant officer in the Confederate army and should know whereof he speaks. The statements alluded to refer to the number of Southern born men in the Union army and will be surprising to many of our readers Gen. Hill is reported as saying

"Even in the late civil war the President of the United States was a Southern born man and the first commander in chief, whose plan for the subsequent conduct of the war was probably that which was finally successfully carried on, was a Virginian. Next to Grant and Sherman, whose leading military conceptions were, perhaps, derived from Gen Scott, the most successful Union generals were Southern [illegible], viz: Thomas, Canby Blair, Sykes Ord, Getty, Anderson, Alexander, Nelson, etc. Gen Hill declares that the stubborn resistance of Gen Thomas at Chickamauga and the refusal of Andrew Johnson to give up Nashville, as Buell directed, dug the grave of the [illegible] [illegible] Farragut, of Tennessee rose to the highest rank in the navy The naval forces at Hatteras were under command of Goldsborough, of Maryland Gen Hill is of opinion that the South furnished as many troops to the Union army as did the populous North At any rate there were no better troops in the Union service Missouri gave 103 773 soldiers to the United States Kentucky 92,000 and Maryland 49 730 Other Southern States contributed in greater or less degree. In all, there were 400,000 native born Southerners in the Union service This does not include the 250 000 negro troops"

Notwithstanding the lateness of the season this year the indications are that the coming wheat harvest will be as bountiful as usual [illegible], if not quite as large an acreage has been sown as in former years and the crop owing to the moist weather promises well Some have asserted that there has been more land seeded with wheat this year than ever before and that the surplus of grain over what will be required for home consumption will be greater than last year. We hope this may be [illegible], since it is probable that the price of wheat next fall and winter will be good This opinion is based upon the possibility of the present war in Europe involving Russia and some of the other great Powers It is very probable that before the conflict closes Russia will be [illegible] [illegible] the grain producing regions which find an outlet for their grain through the Dardanelles will be prevented from sending wheat to England and that country which is the largest buyer of breadstuffs in the world, will be forced to rely upon America for her chief supply, The increased demand upon this country in case the supply from the Black Sea is cut off will be very considerable, and would of itself tend to raise the price correspondingly But should that source of supply be closed by [illegible] engaging in the present war, there would be an increased demand on the continent [illegible] the nature of the conflict would be such that all the European powers would be obliged to be in readiness to act as their interest or necessity might require and consequently would have to lay in larger stocks of war material including breadstuffs England could hardly keep out of the struggle if Russia took part in it and would have to be a large buyer of American grain for provisioning naval and land forces Of course if the war in Europe is restricted to its present limits the market for grain will be materially affected

Mr Tilden is evidently not burdened with excess of modesty He seems on the contrary to be pretty full of what in ordinary men is called conceit When the first news of his nomination which as every one knows was brought about by the adroit management of skillful politicians was received he declared that this is the work of the people who want me Again when the formal announcement of the nomination was made to him by General McClernand he declared that the country had associated [illegible] with administrative reform and that he knew all about how to accomplish it This and his attempt to make the committee of notification attend him at his gubernatorial seat at Albany which failed show Mr Tilden to be possessed of an exceedingly good opinion of himself a much better one we think than a majority of the people entertain of him or will express next November Indeed, as to the justice of his assumption to be considered the representative of reform General Dix proposes to show that he [illegible] no [illegible] as [illegible] late as in as much need of a reformer as any one else and that too by an analysis of his public acts General Dix is not a man to make rash assertions, and Mr Tilden may be shown up in a light by no means favorable to him before the canvass is over with

Breeders of thoroughbred stock will be encouraged to persevere by the fact that a thoroughbred yearling colt by Macaroni out of Brown Duchess was recently sold at auction in England for $20,000 the largest sum ever before paid for a yearling In this country the largest sum ever paid for a yearling at auction did not exceed $7000 These sales were made at regular auction sales of yearlings where many others were sold at prices, in many instances not a great deal less So much for running stock The recent great achievement of Smuggler in beating Goldsmith Maid's best time has induced some one to offer Col Russell the immense sum of one hundred thousand dollars for that animal and has caused Col Russell to refuse it One hundred thousand dollars is a vast sum to have invested in a single horse but if Smuggler should live the usual period of life allotted to equines he will probably more than earn it for his owner by his services in the stud

The International Convention of the Y M C A which met at Toronto must have been composed of a set of misogynists of the most virulent type They peremptorily refused to admit women into the convention notwithstanding as we believe they are allowed to attend the meetings of the local associations No reason is given for the action of the convention and we shall not be rash enough to suggest one

Stained Glass Window.—A new window of [illegible] church, Vancouver, W. T. It is a large double window, and occupies a position over the front entrance In the quarry over and be[illegible] the two petals is an emblem of a font The window is very handsomely stained and is from the celebrated works of Booth Reister & Co Buffalo, New York The glass from these works has one advantage over other glass we have seen, stained in this country in that there is no colored shadow cast from it when the sun shines directly upon it, the shadow in other glass often being very annoying especially when it falls upon the pages of an open book. The other windows of this edifice have been temporarily filled with plain glass but it is the intention to replace them with stained glass as soon as the congregation are able or donations may be made for that purpose. The window put in last week was a Centennial offering

Death of Mr Sherlock.—Mr Samuel Sherlock an old and highly esteemed citizen died at his residence on Fourth street between Stark and Oak Saturday morning His death is directly attributable to internal injuries received by a horse falling on him over a week ago. The best and most experienced medical skill in the city was employed, but his injuries were of a character that baffled every effort Deceased was aged [illegible] years at the time of his death For many years he has been engaged in carrying on an extensive saddlery and harness making establishment in this city Mr Sherlock was an honorable upright gentleman in his social and business relations, a good citizen and kind husband and father He leaves a wife and two accomplished daughters to mourn his departure The funeral will take place this afternoon at 4 o clock from Trinity church

Passengers Coming.—The steamship John L Stephens which sailed from San Francisco for Portland last Saturday forenoon, brings the following passengers Hon B Goldsmith Wm Ladd, A L Moye F W Bell, S Lane, W Waley, R W Beyer, G W Bethum and wife, A Mathiot, John Lee, Mrs J Montgomery, W Curtis and son, P Smith and family Mrs G West, Jr. J F Watson and wife, R. Centennial Committee.—The Centennial executive committee will not be ready to submit to the public a detailed statement of the receipts and expenditures of the late celebration, for a few days As yet the finance committee have not made their final report, which is the occasion of the delay This committee is settling up the unfinished business of the celebration as rapidly as possible, and will soon be able to give a satisfactory statement of how the funds have been expended All the bills against the Centennial committee have been promptly paid except two which have to be adjusted In a few days we will be able to lay before the public the final report of the committee

Large Beef Cattle.—Mr W F Terhune, of Umatilla county arrived in the city Saturday evening, having a band of 30 large beef cattle from east of the mountains The cattle, composing this band are probably the largest which have arrived here for a number of years The largest steer in the band weighs 2,160 pounds while the average weight of the others is in the vicinity of 1 750 pounds These cattle range in age from three to eight years and are in splendid condition They were shipped to Kalama and will be sent from there to the Sound to supply the markets.

Snake River Boat.—The new light draught boat for the Upper Columbia river building at Celilo by the Oregon Steam Navigation Company will be finished in sixty days She will have one of the best hulls ever built in this State, the lumber being a choice selection of Puget Sound manufacture Her engines will be of 16 inch bore and 6 feet stroke, giving her ample power The boat will be 150 feet long and 35 feet beam—similar in size, style and machinery to the steamer Orient, now running on the Willamette river

Repairing the Line.—This morning Mr. Thompson, one of the W U T Co's repairers, will commence at Victoria and give the lines a thorough overhauling from that point to Vancouver Mr John Crouch, the chief builder and repairer for the company in this division will start southward about Wednesday morning. He will give the line between Portland and Roseburg a thorough overhauling

Night Boat to Astoria.—Commencing [illegible]day evening next at 8 o'clock the Bonita will leave for Astoria and Sea Side landing on Lewis river, returning to Portland will leave [illegible] landing on Sunday evening and reaching this city by daylight Monday This trip will be made weekly during the summer season, and the arrangement will prove a great convenience to many

THE EXCURSION TO ALBANY.

When the [illegible] of town [illegible] expected that the party of excursionists who are to visit Albany, would not exceed in number 20 or 30 persons. Since arrangements were inaugurated here and at Albany so many have expressed an earnest desire to visit Albany it was found expedient to make more extensive preparations for the accommodation of those who wished to accompany the excursion Sixty persons it was thought would be the maximum number and a special car was chartered for their accommodation, but as the number of excursionists constantly augmented it was again found necessary to increase the facilities At present the party will number in the vicinity of 200 persons The party will consist of the mayor, members of the common council members of the Centennial committee, a number of the most important and influential citizens of Portland—business men and municipal officials—representatives of the Oregonian and other papers of the city and a delegation from each of the various fire companies of the city besides numerous others A number of ladies will accompany the excursion also members of the Northwestern Band, who will enliven the occasion with music The party will leave on the regular express train this afternoon and are to arrive at Albany at 6 30 P M where they will be met at the depot by a delegation of citizens and escorted to the courthouse. Formal presentation ceremonies are to be held at that place—presenting of the gold centennial medal to Linn Engine Co No 2 by the Mayor of Albany and the original poem by R C White, Esq to the [illegible] of Albany A social hop we understand will be given Monday evening and a collation to which all the guests are invited Arrangements have also been made at Aurora for the party to stop on the way up and take supper Ample accommodations will be provided at Albany for those who desire to secure lodgings for the night Those who contemplate going may anticipate a very pleasant trip

FOURTH OF JULY ITEMS

The celebration at Seattle cost $2 500

We learn that the Chehalis Station celebration was attended by about [illegible]00 persons and that at the ball in the evening, there were [illegible] couples present. We are pleased to learn that they had a pleasant time

The celebration on Deep river Clatsop was attended by settlers of both rivers Deep and Gray and the bay The oration was delivered by Thos H Boss J P Walker read the Declaration Maj Bose was present with his band and furnished music for the occasion

The speaker's stand gave way and fell with a crash at the celebration on the Fourth at Walla Walla precipitating orator, reader the children from the liberty car officers from the garrison and invited guests into a promiscuous heap Fortunately nobody was hurt and the forum was immediately "reconstructed" by willing and experienced platform builders

The Baker City Democrat has a letter from Connor creek saying "The hundredth anniversary of the United States of America passed off very pleasantly at Connor creek until the morning of the 5th about sunrise the community was apprised on hearing a man running through the street crying at the top of his voice that Frank Spencer was buried under a slide I might say in hailing distance of us all His name proper is Frederick Spencer commonly called Yank Spencer and better known as Yank Spencer Age 48 years and native of Plattsburg State of Vermont

DECISION IN U S DISTRICT COURT BY JUDGE DEADY

The Wallamet R T Co v the Oregon S N Co—No [illegible]—In Admiralty

SATURDAY JULY 15 1876

When a collision between two boats is caused by the fault of both of them the loss caused thereby must be borne by them equally

When two rival passenger steamboats start from the same wharf at the same time they are each bound to exercise the utmost skill and care to prevent a collision

DEADY J

In the summer and autumn of 1873 the libellant was the owner of the steamboat Beaver and the respondent of the Hayward and both were engaged in the navigation of the Wallamet and Columbia rivers between Portland and Astoria. On the morning of September 16, both boats were at the wharf where they usually laid at Astoria—the Beaver on the outside and at the lower end—the Hayward on the inside and at the upper end. The wharf was about 200 feet long and 40 feet wide. The Beaver is a stern wheel boat of about 125 feet keel and 25 feet beam drawing about 2 feet of water with comparatively strong engines. The Hayward is also a stern wheel boat of about 1[illegible]0 feet keel and 28 feet beam and draws about 5 feet of water. When under way she is the faster boat of the two, but she is not so readily handled as the other. A sail vessel called the Alumna, was lying in the stream opposite, and about 300 feet above the steamboat's wharf, and at a distance of 825 feet from it. Near 5 o clock in the morning, each boat gave the signal to cast off and start up the stream for Portland. The tide was high water slack and the weather was clear and calm. Both vessels commenced to back around down stream, so as to bring their bows up stream preparatory to start on the voyage. The Beaver swung around first, and started up the stream under a full head of steam and by the time she had gone her own length was making about 8 or 10 miles an hour. The point at which she started up stream was about 250 yards below the place of the collision. The Hayward took a larger circle to turn in, than the Beaver besides which she had to back about her length up stream before she cleared the wharf and could commence to swing around, so that by the time the Beaver was straightened up stream the Hayward had only swung out into the stream and was [illegible] about midway between the wharf and the Alumna and backing at the rate of about 4 miles an hour, toward the latter. The Beaver started to pass between the Hayward and the shore—opposite the sawmill wharf and about 300 feet above her wharf—but when within about 50 or 60 yards of the Hayward the stop bell of the latter was rung and her wheel stopped as if she was preparing to go ahead, whereupon the master of the Beaver gave two blasts of his whistle to signify his intention to pass on the port or outside of the Hayward, and between her and the Alumna and at the same time veered slightly to the left. The master of the Hayward made no response to the signals of the Beaver and apparently paid no attention to her approach but allowed his boat to continue drifting across the line of the direction taken by the latter. The result was that as the Beaver [illegible] the stern of the Hayward the fantail of the latter came in contact with the [illegible] of the former, at about a right angle, just aft of the smoke stack and crushed in the side of it for about 30 feet. The [illegible] of the Beaver was light and did not offer much [illegible] to the Hayward, but when the fantail came in contact with the hog post of the Beaver her way was checked and the latter swung clear and passed on striking, as she did, the port quarter of the Alumna with her own port quarter near the wheel. The force of the collision may be inferred from the fact that the fender and the hog posts of the Beaver were badly broken and bent in, while the [illegible] in the fender post indicates quite certainly that the pressure upon it came from a [illegible] at right angles with the boat. For, as it swung loose upon the side of the boat, if the blow had come upon it in a slanting direction it would naturally have "tipped" or [illegible] to one side and thus escaped the [illegible] of the collision. Upon this state of facts I conclude that both parties were in fault and to blame for the collision and that [illegible], according to the rule in admiralty, the damage resulting from it must be divided between them. Atlee v Packet Co, 21 Wall, 389. Under the circumstances, the Beaver was running at too great a rate of speed, while the Hayward was culpable in not making the proper effort to avoid the collision. When the Beaver attempted to pass over the water between the [illegible] and the Alumna a space of 835 feet, the Hayward was in plain view [illegible] around about 250 yards ahead, and [illegible] at right angles with the direction of the Beaver.

Under these circumstances the Beaver should have [illegible] run, if at all, under a slow bell until the Hayward had straitened up stream and left a clear channel for her. Even if the Hayward had [illegible] in lying across the channel, so as indefinitely to obstruct the [illegible] of the Beaver, her master would not have been justified in attempting to pass at the risk of a collision. Rather than do this, he should have backed down stream and passed [illegible] of the Alumna, or [illegible] remained in [illegible], and laid the [illegible] of the master of the Hayward before the proper authorities. A collision between steamboats upon which the public are in the habit of risking their lives and property should be avoided by all means. And particularly where two rival passenger [illegible] start from the same wharf, at the same time, are they each bound to exercise the utmost care and skill to prevent a collision. The Boston, Olcott, 407. Still in justice to the master of the Beaver, it must be admitted that the attempt to pass between the Hayward and the shore appeared feasible, until the Hayward stopped her engines and thus created the impression that she was done backing and intended to go ahead and straiten up as she [illegible]. Upon this unexpected change of the situation, the master of the Beaver having first signified his intention by two blasts of his whistle, took the risk of passing between the Hayward and the Alumna [illegible] the very best thing he could have done under the circumstances. But if he had been moving under a slow bell, as I think he ought he would not have been caught in this dangerous [illegible] and that was his fault that he started to pass the Hayward under these circumstances, moving at the rate of 8 or 10—probably 10—miles an hour.

The master of the Hayward was also in a position to observe the movements of the Beaver, and it was his duty to do so. He had no right to await or invite a collision, which he could have avoided, simply because he had the road, so to speak, or had nothing to fear on account of the position of the vessels and the superior weight or construction of his own.

It does not appear directly that these boats belonged to rival companies and were then being run in opposition to one another. But indirectly it does, and the fact goes far in my judgment to explain and account for the conduct of the parties managing them. If they had not, been running in opposition it is almost certain there would have been no collision. The Beaver was behind when they set off for the race to Portland but being comparatively light quick and easily handled if allowed, would go ahead on the start and this is what it appears she intended and attempted to do. The Hayward being larger and more unwieldy, got around slowly and appears to have been handled so as to prevent or deter the Beaver from attempting to pass her or to leave it uncertain which side of the channel would be the safest. In so doing she directly contributed to the collision and must therefore bear one half of the loss resulting therefrom.

The libellant in this libel demands damages to the amount of $3 000, but upon the evidence only claims the sum of $[illegible] 32 in coin made up as follows. For repairs to house $650; sundry repairs $60; for new bulkheads $222; for general and permanent depreciation of the boat on account of the collision, $1 000; demurrage for one month's delay occupied in repairing the boat $[illegible] and wages of master engineer and fireman for the same time $325.

The item for bulkheads must be rejected. The boat was built without them and they were put in at the time of making the repairs with a general view of strengthening her and upon the probability that the shock of the collision had in some degree loosened her joints and fastenings and thus weakened her. For general depreciation $500 is allowed. I have not been able to find any express authority for this item but upon the rule of restitutio in integrum as laid down in The Baltimore 8 Wall 385 it seems proper to be allowed. It is in the nature of things that a collision like this affects more or less the integrity and durability of a boat and by so much diminishes its market value. The case of The Isaac Newton 4 Bl C C 21 tends to show that damages may be allowed for general depreciation of value on account of a collision although it was not so held in that case because the evidence showed that the vessel was in [illegible] after the repairs as before the injury.

The loss of freight is the measure of damages for delay and it being shown that the net earnings of the Beaver [illegible] at the time of the collision was $[illegible] therefore this sum is allowed [illegible] as a part of the demurrage [illegible] wages paid the master engineer and fireman of the Beaver during the month occupied in making repairs—$325. This makes the amount of the damages sustained by the libellant $2062 for one half of which with interest thereon for one year and ten months at ten per centum per annum in the aggregate $1 2[illegible]—it is entitled to a decree against the respondent but without costs. The estimates all being made on a coin basis, and the respondent being at liberty to pay this decree in any lawful money of the United States there must be added to this amount ten per centum for the difference between currency and coin which will make the amount of the decree $1 [illegible]

William H Effinger and Richard Williams for libellant

William Strong and Thomas Strong for respondent

Considering the fact that it is Saturday a good deal of activity is noticed in general business circles. Financial matters are moving along in their accustomed grooves without much friction. Some considerable sums are being offered to loan at about 11 @12 per cent. per annum but there are generally brokers commissions or other charges contingent that bring the rates up to fully 1 or 1¼ per cent per month. The depreciation in the price of silver both in England and the United States has very materially affected the market in San Francisco for the great bonanza stocks, and some of them now are lower than they have been before from the first development of the mines. Some of our exchanges claim that the downward tendency is entirely due to the lessening value of silver, as capital is plentiful and the spirit of speculation just as great as ever, but that it is impossible for those even who are able to get up a "deal" in these stocks in the dullest and most stringent times to contend with the inevitable verdict of the commercial world as evinced in the course of the market in silver.

Trade affairs in local circles exhibit a moderate degree of activity, with no important change in values. Produce generally is coming forward in limited quantities, wool being an exception and receipts of that commodity are large.

Wheat is creating but little interest just now there being reported by recent dispatches a continued depression and marked downward tendency in the English markets. Wool is being received in large quantities from Eastern Oregon as well as from the Wallamet valley and Douglas county, and prices range from 11 to 16 cents per lb according to quality and style of packing. Of course no one will sell any but very inferior at the minimum figure and buyers will only pay the maximum for choice lots. We notice the sale of 18 000 lbs in one lot from Umatilla county delivered here at 13½ cents per lb which is above the average price for the same quality in ordinary lots.

Shipping Intelligence.

The little schr Katie L. Heron is at the foot of Alder street, where she has been lying for three weeks.

There are now in the river discharging loading or awaiting orders seven coasters and seven foreign bound vessels. The former are the Dawn, Sea Wolf, Orient, Oregonian, Hayward and Tam O Shanter from San Francisco, and the Heron from Tillamook and the latter are the Garibaldi, Edward James and S G Reed from China, Mattie Macleay from Honolulu, the Albert from London via Victoria, Macleod and City of Sparta from Sydney.

The steamship John L. Stephens left San Francisco for Portland at the usual hour to day with freight and passengers.

The iron ship we reported in the river two days ago, turns out to be the City of Paris, consigned to Jas Laidlaw & Co.

The Br ship Cameo hence arrived at Falmouth on the 8th inst. The ship City of Tanjore hence arrived at Queenstown the same day.

The Oregon ship Western Shore passed Dover, England June 27th, bound for San Francisco from Hull.

IS NOW OPEN FOR THE RECEPTION OF VISITORS.

J. C. OLMSTED.

BAY VIEW HOUSE,

BAKER'S BAY, UNITY, W. T.

MR DEXTER INFORMS THE PUBLIC that his House is now open for the reception of guests. Its advantages in every respect over any other Summer Resort are too well known to Oregonians to repeat here. To strangers I will say that the place is in plain sight and across the Bay from Astoria on the sheltered side of Cape Hancock and very near and adjacent to the Fort and Lighthouse on Baker's Bay a beautiful sheet of water unequaled for Sailing Rowing Fishing and Bathing. The dark forest with its picturesque drives its mountain springs profusion of wild berries wild flowers and ferns the horse trail to the Cape for Equestrians or walkers is one of the most delightful panoramas to the eye ever witnessed. The cosy beaches its caves luxuriantly wooded Island its views of Astoria Chinook Fort Stevens and old Tillamook in the blue distance.

The courteous hospitality of the officers of the Garrison at the Fort and also of Mr Munson and family of the Lighthouse make that place well worthy of a visit.

The Salt Water Bathing in the bay within a few feet of the hotel excels anything, far or near, for warmth of the water and mildness of its waves far preferable to the heavy surf and cold winds for women children and invalids while the sturdy swimmer or those who love the foaming surf in a few minutes walk will find a beach unsurpassed in beauty hard and level for one continuous drive of thirty miles. At this end are huge rocks stretching out into the ocean from which fishers take from the sea Bass Rockfish Tom Cod Porgies [illegible] Crabs Clams Oysters &c in abundance and the Table will never lack a sufficiency of those desirable adjuncts. Boats upon the Bay Saddle Ponies for the children Teams to the Weather Beach Croquet Swings Quoits etc FREE to Guests.

Prices reduced from the old tariff

To those who would like to camp out wood and water and use of ground free. Groceries provisions milk eggs butter etc for sale at a small profit. Campers can board at the Hotel if they prefer at fair rates. A large Livery Stable two new and fine Ten Pin Alleys attached to the place.

Stage Office to Oysterville Postoffice Wells Fargo & Co's office also there. No raw winds or damp fogs and more beautiful tracks and shady groves cannot be found. The only regret the landlord has is that his house is not larger but his ground are large enough and beautiful enough to warrant next season a Hotel worthy of the surroundings.

C. H DEXTER, Proprietor.
